

PROLICHT ILLUMINATES THE BAR AT ARCHITECT@WORK

As the official lighting partner, PROLICHT stages the bar of ARCHITECT@WORK with the LULLABY pendant luminaire – a highlight of the fairs in Valencia and Lisbon 2025.

Following successful appearances in Vienna, Rotterdam and Kortrijk, PROLICHT once again takes on the role of official lighting partner at the renowned ARCHITECT@WORK – this time in Valencia (16–17 October) and Lisbon (27–28 November). The lighting design focuses exclusively on the bar, which serves as the central meeting point and communicative hub of the event.

At the heart of this concept is the LULLABY pendant luminaire, developed in collaboration with designer Marc Sadler. LULLABY combines acoustically effective panels with clear light guidance and flexible design options. As a result, it is more than a functional element – it becomes a three-dimensional light sculpture that creates atmosphere and inspires dialogue.

The rectangular panels of LULLABY reflect the visual identity of ARCHITECT@WORK – defined by striking diamond-shaped patterns – and translate it into a spatial light composition. This creates a direct connection between architectural branding and atmospheric staging.

“The bar is the heart of ARCHITECT@WORK – a place where people meet and exchange ideas. With LULLABY, we transform this space into an inspiring highlight of the fair,” explains Filippo Bettinzoli, Marketing Director at PROLICHT.

In addition to its role as lighting partner, PROLICHT will also be present as an exhibitor with its own stand, showcasing further innovations from its portfolio.
